

Cooperative Communications, Inc.

Cooperative Communications QuikSpeed™ Internet service uses the latest in digital technology to provide users with an affordable broadband connection to access the world-wide-web or to provide a seamless integration of a customer's voice and data applications. Cooperative's QuikSpeed™ product line has been designed to offer small, medium, and large companies with reliable Internet connections that are capable of downloading information at speeds from 128K to 1.0Meg. QuikSpeed™ Dial-Up, QuikSpeed™ DSL, and QuikSpeed™ On-Line are three distinct services that address customers that have low, medium, and high bandwidth requirements.

OUR PRODUCTS

QuikSpeed™ Dial-Up Internet service provides customers with an economical dial-up connection to the Internet anywhere there is access to a phone line. Cooperative's extensive network provides national access with dial-up capability in over 600 cities.

QuikSpeed™ DSL Internet service provides dedicated, "always on", fully managed high-speed Internet access at a competitive flat rate. DSL is an advanced technology that enables copper phone lines to carry high-speed digital connections at speeds comparable to that of a T-1. QuikSpeed™ DSL allows small to medium size business customers Ethernet/LAN access to the Internet.

QuikSpeed™ On-Line Internet service provides a highly reliable broadband connection that guarantees bandwidth for specific data intensive applications. QuikSpeed™ On-Line offers customers the ability to channel their voice and Internet requirements over a single T-1 to reduce costs and improve productivity. Cooperative's QuikSpeed™ On-Line enables customers to bundle services by allocating up to 16 voice channels and 8 data channels to obtain better efficiency of their communication lines.
